MEET THE PRESS WEEKEND LISTINGS

(SUNDAY 04/05/09) Less than a week after President Obama takes an unprecedented step toward saving the auto industry by ousting GM CEO Rick Wagoner, we'll go live to Detroit and speak with Wagoner's replacement, FRITZ HENDERSON, about his plans to save the American icon and bring his business back from the brink. Then, President Obama on the world stage: What did the historic economic summit accomplish and can this new administration enlist wider support from our allies in the battle against terrorism?

(SUNDAY 04/12/09) Join us for a special holiday Sunday roundtable discussion: How has the Obama administration fared on crucial foreign policy challenges abroad and under political scrutiny back home? Plus, back to the basics on the economy. What's really going on and where do we go from here?

(SUNDAY 04/19/09) Exclusive! White House National Economic Council Director Dr. Larry Summers joins us from the President's trip to the Summit of the Americas in Trinidad. Are we starting to see signs of an economic recovery and what major hurdles do we still face? We'll get the very latest on the nation's economic situation from a man at the center of it all. Then, our political roundtable tackles the newly public CIA torture memos and the administration's decision not to charge operatives in such cases. We'll also cover the economy -- taxes, spending, and the future of the banks.

(SUNDAY 04/26/09) Two Sunday Exclusives! White House Press Secretary Robert Gibbs weighs in on the debate over torture: Should former Bush administration officials face prosecution for authorizing harsh interrogation tactics? Does the President support an investigation? All this and a closer look at President Obama's first 100 days in office. Then, after spending the week in Washington, Jordan's King Abdullah II joins us to discuss his White House meeting with President Obama; prospects for peace in the Middle East; the fight against terrorism; and how the U.S. treated terror suspects following 9/11. Plus, insights and analysis on the Obama administration's first 100 days: successes, failures and what we've learned about our new president.

(SUNDAY 05/03/09) As swine flu fears sweep the globe, the risk here at home remains unclear. What is the government doing to try and stop the flu's spread? And could the U.S. outbreak turn deadly? We'll get all the latest information from the three top officials charged with coordinating our national response: newly sworn-in HHS Sec. Kathleen Sebelius, DHS Sec. Janet Napolitano, and CDC Acting Dir. Dr. Richard Besser. Then, a major surprise on Capitol Hill as veteran Republican senator Arlen Specter switches to the Democratic Party. How will his decision impact the Republican and Democratic parties and their agendas in Washington? We'll ask him in his first television interview since announcing his decision. And, what does Specter's move say about the future of the Republican Party? Plus, an unexpected retirement on the Supreme Court. Who's on the short list to fill Justice Souter's spot? And is a new partisan battle brewing? We'll hear from two key Republican voices: MSNBC's Fmr. Rep. Joe Scarborough (R-FL) & Fmr. RNC Chair Ed Gillespie.

(SUNDAY, 5/10/09) After an unprecedented White House summit with President Obama this week, Afghanistan's President Hamid Karzai and Pakistan's President Asif Ali Zardari appear in exclusive interviews on "Meet the Press" this Sunday. We'll get an inside look at what was discussed in those meetings, why President Obama calls their region "the most dangerous place in the world," and what each nation is doing on its own, and together, to fight the Taliban insurgency and bring stability to that troubled area. Plus, analysis on that volatile situation and the national security challenge it presents to the Obama administration from our foreign policy roundtable.

(SUNDAY, 5/17/09) Exclusive! In their first Sunday showdown as Party Chairs, the Democratic National Committee's Tim Kaine and the Republican National Committee's Michael Steele square off on the many issues that divide their two parties including national security, abortion, health care reform, and the economy. Plus, how does each leader plan to steer his side to victory in 2010 and beyond? We'll find out, only on "Meet the Press." Then, the torture debate. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi accuses the CIA of misleading Congress on the use of waterboarding on terror suspects, but the Agency says Pelosi was briefed on the matter. What did she know and when was she told?

(SUNDAY, 5/24/09) President Obama and former Vice President Dick Cheney delivered dueling speeches this week, debating both the past and the future of America's fight against terrorism. But as President Obama looks for middle ground, is he really charting a new course or is he advocating an approach much closer to his predecessor's than he is willing to admit? Then, our roundtable weighs in on the Obama-Cheney national security debate and where the Obama agenda goes from here -- a Supreme Court nominee, health care reform, the economy and energy.

(SUNDAY, 5/31/09) Exclusive! President Obama makes history and nominates the first Latina Justice to the Supreme Court, and the GOP prepares for a fight. We take an in-depth look at Judge Sonia Sotomayor's record on issues like abortion, activism and ideology with the men at the center of the confirmation battle: Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, Sen. Patrick Leahy (D-VT), and the Committee's Ranking Member, Sen. Jeff Sessions (R-AL). Then, the economy: Are things getting worse or are we seeing real signs of recovery? What is the view from the front lines? Our conversation from the floor of the New York Stock Exchange with three key CEO's: Google's Eric Schmidt, Xerox's Anne Mulcahy and Caterpillar's Jim Owens. Finally, our roundtable weighs in on the Obama administration, the economy and more: BBC America's Katty Kay, author of the new book, "Womenomics: Write Your Own Rules for Success"; Richard Wolffe, author of the new book, "Renegade: The Making of a President"; and NBC's Brian Williams with his exclusive preview of "Inside the Obama White House," where he'll take viewers behind-the-scenes for an insider's look at a day in the life of the Obama White House

(SUNDAY, 6/14/09) Exclusive! Vice President Joe Biden makes his first appearance on MTP since taking the nation's second highest office. We'll have an in-depth look at the many pressing issues facing the Obama administration at home and abroad: the economic stimulus plan, health care reform, the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan, nuclear threats from North Korea, and the impact of the Iranian election on America's national security. Then, a discussion about the Administration's national and global agenda with two reform-minded Republicans: Mike Murphy, John McCain's chief strategist during the 2000 presidential campaign, and former congressman Joe Scarborough, host of MSNBC's Morning Joe and author of the new book, "The Last Best Hope."

(SUNDAY, 6/28/09) The Obama agenda: health care, energy, the economy, foreign policy. Where will the President push his policies and where will he compromise? As the President gets tough on Iran, is the administration still prepared to talk to that nation about nuclear weapons? We'll get a complete assessment at this key moment in the Obama presidency from Senior Obama Adviser DAVID AXELROD. Then, another GOP leader stumbles as South Carolina's Gov. Mark Sanford admits to cheating on his wife, to misleading his staff and the state, and is now struggling to keep his job. How does the party recover? Then the take on all the week's news from our political roundtable.

DATELINE NBC

FRIDAY, APRIL 3 - A free-spirited couple's reputation for being so in love is questioned when the husband is accused of murdering his beloved, spiritual soulmate. Keith Morrison reports.

SUNDAY, APRIL 5 - With the economy in freefall and unemployment reaching record highs, Chris Hansen investigates two schemes that sound too good to be true -- salesmen who sell "get rich working at home" and "double your car's gas mileage" plans -- for the final installment of his three-part series, "Inside the Financial Fiasco: Promises, Promises."

FRIDAY, APRIL 10 - Josh Mankiewicz and an elite team of investigators try to solve two murder cases with viewers' help.

FRIDAY, APRIL 10 - In an upcoming "Dateline" airing this Friday, April 10, viewers will be taken inside an unfolding investigation like never before. "Dateline" producers searched the country to assemble a team of law enforcement professionals to roll up their sleeves and work together to help solve two perplexing murders in North Carolina. Relying on insight, experience and instinct, "Dateline's Unsolved Case Squad" pieces through the evidence, discusses possible suspects and weighs theories about an unknown killer who so far has eluded justice.

Correspondent Josh Mankiewicz and law enforcement veterans Dwayne Stanton, Yolanda McClary and Alan Jackson come together to try and get to the truth behind the murders of Allison Foy and Angela Rothen, two mothers that went missing a year apart before their bones were found together last year in a wooded area near Wilmington, N.C. Stanton is a retired homicide detective from Washington D.C. who investigated Chandra Levy's murder; McClary is a Las Vegas crime scene investigator who served as a model for a character on the hit series, "C.S.I.;" and Jackson is a prosecutor in Los Angeles who specializes in high-profile cases.

Police in Wilmington were interviewed for "Dateline's Unsolved Case Squad" and have set up a hotline for viewers to call in tips following the broadcast.

SUNDAY, APRIL 12 - Chris Hansen has an undercover report on a modeling company and young would-be-models who lost their dreams, and their parents who lost thousands of dollars. Dennis Murphy reports on an online dating ploy based in Philadelphia that allowed at least seven women to fall victim to crimes of the heart... and checkbook.

FRIDAY, APRIL 17 - In a special two-hour "Dateline," airing this Friday, April 17, correspondent Dennis Murphy reports on the mysterious disappearance of a young woman in a Detroit suburb. Cindy Zarzycki was only 13 years old when she was last seen at a Dairy Queen in her hometown of Eastpointe, Michigan in the spring of 1986. For eight years following Cindy's disappearance, her case was treated as a runaway. That was, until Detective Derek McLaughlin was promoted to the Eastpointe's Youth Bureau detective division and took over the case. With the help of a college intern, Jen Leibow, as an investigator, this dedicated team worked tirelessly for years to solve Cindy's case and bring her family closure.

FRIDAY, APRIL 24 - A date night in Manhattan turns into a family's worst nightmare when a lawyer and his wife are shot on a dark Westchester road. She was killed and he was injured. But, who pulled the trigger? Dennis Murphy reports.

SUNDAY, APRIL 26 - Sarah James reports on an adventurous "ice man" whose arctic escapades have put both his marriage and his life at risk. Tiki Barber and his team surprise Americans with the return of millions of dollars they never knew they had in part one of "You Might Be Rich!"

FRIDAY, MAY 1 - A 24-year old California surfer dies and five of his peers are accused of murder. Was it a premeditated plan or a late-night brawl gone terribly wrong? Keith Morrison reports.

SUNDAY, MAY 3 - Donald Trump will join NBC News' Tiki Barber to surprise one unsuspecting family with the incredible news they have unclaimed money coming to them - Sunday, May 3 on a special broadcast of "Dateline" at 7 PM/ET live from Rockefeller Center in New York City. In state treasuries across America billions of dollars in unclaimed property sits waiting to be returned to millions of people. Yet many state officials don't have the resources to find everyone. Barber and his team, including NBC News' Peter Alexander and MSNBC's Tamron Hall, traveled from coast to coast and overseas to help return close to $5 million dollars to over a dozen individuals. For part two of "You Might Be Rich!" one family will get the surprise of a lifetime live.

The two-hour "Dateline" continues with Chris Hansen investigating lottery scams. Every year millions of people in the U.S. buy more than 60 billion dollars worth of lottery tickets. "Dateline" followed undercover investigators into lotto retail stores to discover that in some cases the people redeeming winning lottery tickets aren't always the actual winner. Hansen worked with the Security Enforcement Division of the California Lottery, a unique investigative operation, to test compliance of the state's lottery retailers.

FRIDAY, MAY 8 - Why do men and women cheat? Hoda Kotb reports on whether some people are genetically predisposed to infidelity. Frank and Leta Cordes built a vacation home in the Caribbean, in part, to escape marital problems that had plagued their relationship for years. When Leta Cordes disappears one night, her missing person's case becomes the most perplexing mystery to ever happen on the island. Dennis Murphy reports.

SUNDAY, MAY 10 - Chris Hansen reports on an alleged ponzi scheme led by Nicholas Cosmo, an entrepreneur who left investors with rage at him and the operation he ran, instead of profits. How can we live longer, healthier lives? The people of the Adriatic "blue zones" may have the answer. Hoda Kotb reports.

FRIDAY, MAY 15 - Friends described Leta and Frank Cordes as the perfect couple -- Leta was energetic and friendly, Frank was calm and private. But their world hit a wall when Frank learned that Leta had had an affair. To start over, Leta and Frank planned to finish building their house on the sunny island of St. Maarten. Shortly after, Leta mysteriously disappeared into the Caribbean night. Frank was held as a suspect on the island for four months but has since been released and denies any involvement in the disappearance of his wife. The question remains, did Leta up and leave her world, or was a more sinister force involved? Dennis Murphy reports.

SUNDAY, MAY 17 - Cody McCasland, a seven year old amputee, was born so damaged that he wasn't expected to live more than one day. Keith Morrison reports on this vibrant young boy and the incredible odds he has overcome. Ann Curry reports from Afghanistan on the steps one American is taking to educate and advocate for Afghan women. What has happened to the child stars of the critically acclaimed film "Slumdog Millionaire"? Keith Morrison reports.

FRIDAY, MAY 22 - In a two-hour mystery about passion, manipulation and murder, Keith Morrison reports on the death of a fisherman, and the stripper and the steelworker who end up in the trial of their lives.

SUNDAY, MAY 24 - A young American in Britain was wooed and won by a dashing Englishman who said he was spy. It turned out he was anything but honest. Preview Dennis Murphy's report on a whirlwind romance that became a worldwide race to rescue the young woman. A wealthy hedge fund manager whom the rich and powerful trusted with their fortunes suddenly disappears - and the money was gone too. Turns out, all along he'd been playing a dangerous game with very high stakes. Dennis Murphy reports.

MONDAY, MAY 25 - In Graham, North Carolina, a young man is arrested for the murder of a local couple, and even his own father believes he is guilty at the time. When the charges are dropped, Paul Crotts becomes determined to clear his son Mark's name and to rid himself of his own guilt. Keith Morrison reports. Dennis Murphy reports on a young woman stuck in an abusive relationship and her controlling husband who is arrested after her dead body is found along the side of a river in Michigan. Was it homicide at her the hand of her husband or were others involved?

FRIDAY, MAY 29 - Did Doug Grant commit a near-perfect murder of his wife or was he somehow involved in a misguided prosecution? Josh Mankiewicz reports on a mystery so deep and strange that even seven years of investigation left some of the biggest questions unanswered.

SUNDAY, MAY 31 - An exclusive, all access and behind-the-scenes look at Taylor Swift, one of the hottest artists in the country. Hoda Kotb sits down with Taylor and her mom Andrea Swift to discuss the road to fame and life in the spotlight. Keith Morrison reports on a mother's mysterious disappearance and two of her daughters who are determined to find answers. Did she run off with another man like their father claimed? Or was he covering for himself? 16 years later, the truth is revealed.

FRIDAY, JUNE 5 - While honeymooning in Australia, a newly wedded bride drowns while diving the Great Barrier Reef. Was this an accident by a novice scuba diver or was her husband to blame? Dennis Murphy reports.

SUNDAY, JUNE 7 - Ann Curry explores a side of Iran unknown to most Americans with an exclusive look at the politics, people, and history of the controversial country. David Goldman has been fighting for custody of his son, Sean, since his mother took him to Brazil in 2004. After five years, will this father and son finally be reunited? The latest developments in the case and exclusive video of Goldman in Brazil. A wife is trapped in her husband's mysterious and secretive life - a world of deception and intrigue that would take her a decade to escape from. Dennis Murphy reports.

MONDAY, JUNE 8 - On a quiet road among the canyons lived three feuding neighbors, all of whom were loved and well-accomplished. Who could imagine what these neighbors were capable of?

SUNDAY, JUNE 14 - For 30 years, Clark Rockefeller lived a life of deceit. He is now on trial charged with abducting his daughter. Mike Taibbi reports on the latest in the case.

MONDAY, JUNE 15 - Chris Hansen will show viewers a side of Sin City never seen before with "Vegas Undercover." In this gritty, one-hour hidden camera investigation, Hansen goes off the strip to the dark corners of Las Vegas to watch police 'catch' auto thieves, pimps, even a man producing counterfeit hundred dollar bills.

FRIDAY, JUNE 19 - Keith Morrison reports on a mother's mysterious disappearance and her two daughters determined to find answers. Did she run off with another man like their father claimed? Or was he covering for himself? 16 years later, the truth is revealed. Tom and Jackie Hawks were killed as they tried to sell their boat in Newport Beach, California in 2004. Josh Mankiewicz reports on the latest in the case and talks to the young man who pretended to be an interested buyer and turned out to be a killer.

SUNDAY, JUNE 21 - Ten near-death experiences caught on camera. The extremely close calls include a base jump gone horribly wrong, a roof top fire rescue and a girl trapped under concrete. Hoda Kotb reports.

MONDAY, JUNE 22 - One man is found dead in a garage and another man is missing. Was this a coincidence or a plan gone terribly wrong by a couple desperate to start a new life? Rob Stafford investigates.

SUNDAY, JUNE 28 - Hoda Kotb reports on a mother's desperate journey to save her children from a rare disease. Determined to find a cure, the woman takes matters into her own hands educating herself in pharmacology, medicine, and the law in hopes of developing a treatment.

MONDAY, JUNE 29 - Dateline Presents: "Living with Michael Jackson" A remarkable and rarely seen interview with Michael Jackson. Journalist Martin Bashir was given unprecedented access to the singer, his Neverland estate, and Jackson's children. Jackson talked more openly than ever before - about his troubled childhood, his ever-changing appearance, and his questionable relationships with children. It was Jackson's most intimate, revealing, and, disturbing interview. A look back to 2003... for an extraordinary documentary
